INT. BASEMENT - NIGHT

TWO SETS OF HANDS grip onto a small circular device. It clips neatly into the engine of a vehicle that resembles a Smart car sans wheels.

TANYA GRACE (30, sharp and bullheaded) and AAMIR KAPOOR (34, quick with numbers yet hesitant with everything else) both step back and close the hood.

Tanya eyes a COUNTDOWN TIMER on a nearby work bench as Aamir checks the interior of the vehicle.

TANYA
Three minutes...

Tanya slips into a dark corner and begins dragging a BODY, with a bag over its head, into the middle of the room.

TANYA (CONT'D)
A little help?

Aamir's hand grips the opened car door for a moment before he steps over to help.

They slide the body in the driver's seat and buckle it in. Tanya closes the car door.

TANYA (CONT'D)
One minute, thirty seconds... It feels like we're forgetting something-

AAMIR
We're not.

The two stand side by side in silence. Tanya flexes her hands. Aamir hugs himself. The body starts to move slightly.

AAMIR (CONT'D)
No...

Aamir runs for the work bench. He grabs and loads a tranquilizer gun.

TANYA
There isn't time. Step back!

As Aamir turns to the car, it begins to violently vibrate. Blue static leaps from the metal frame.

The body SCREAMS. A loud SNAP electrifies the room and the car VANISHES.
